They are effective from the date the Group is established.

1.1.2. The standing orders, together with the Group's scheme of reservation and delegation and the Group's prime financial policies, provide a procedural framework within which the Group discharges its business. They set out:

Members of the Group, employees, members of the Governing Body, members of the Governing Body's committees and sub-committees, members of the Group's committees and sub-committees and persons working on behalf of the Group should be aware of the existence of these documents and, where necessary, be familiar with their detailed provisions. - 1.1.2. The prime financial policies are part of the Group's control environment for managing the organisation's financial affairs. They contribute to good corporate governance, internal control and managing risks. They enable sound administration; lessen the risk of irregularities and support commissioning and delivery of effective, efficient and economical services. They also help the Accountable Officer and Chief Finance Officer to effectively perform their responsibilities. They should be used in conjunction with the scheme of reservation and delegation found at Appendix D.
- 1.1.3. In support of these prime financial policies, the Group has prepared more detailed policies, approved by the Chief Finance Officer known as detailed financial policies. The Group refers to these prime and detailed financial policies together as the clinical commissioning Group's financial policies.
- 1.1.4. These prime financial policies identify the financial responsibilities which apply to everyone working for the Group and its constituent organisations. They do not provide detailed procedural advice and should be read in conjunction with the detailed financial policies.  - a) Selflessness – Holders of public office should act solely in terms of the public interest. They should not do so in order to gain financial or other benefits for themselves, their family or their friends.
 - b) Integrity – Holders of public office should not place themselves under any financial or other obligation to outside individuals or organisations that might seek to influence them in the performance of their official duties.
 - c) Objectivity – In carrying out public business, including making public appointments, awarding contracts, or recommending individuals for rewards and benefits, holders of public office should make choices on merit.
 - d) Accountability – Holders of public office are accountable for their decisions and actions to the public and must submit themselves to whatever scrutiny is appropriate to their office.
 - e) Openness – Holders of public office should be as open as possible about all the decisions and actions they take. They should give reasons for their decisions and restrict information only when the wider public interest clearly demands.

APPENDIX G – NHS CONSTITUTION

The NHS Constitution sets out seven key principles that guide the NHS in all it does:

1. the NHS provides a comprehensive service, available to all - irrespective of gender, race, disability, age, sexual orientation, religion or belief. It has a duty to each and every individual that it serves and must respect their human rights. At the same time, it has a wider social duty to promote equality through the services it provides and to pay particular attention to Groups or sections of society where improvements in health and life expectancy are not keeping pace with the rest of the population
2. access to NHS services is based on clinical need, not an individual's ability to pay - NHS services are free of charge, except in limited circumstances sanctioned by Parliament.
3. the NHS aspires to the highest standards of excellence and professionalism - in the provision of high-quality care that is safe, effective and focused on patient experience; in the planning and delivery of the clinical and other services it provides; in the people it employs and the education, training and development they receive; in the leadership and management of its organisations; and through its commitment to innovation and to the promotion and conduct of research to improve the current and future health and care of the population.
4. NHS services must reflect the needs and preferences of patients, their families and their carers - patients, with their families and carers, where appropriate, will be involved in and consulted on all decisions about their care and treatment.
5. the NHS works across organisational boundaries and in partnership with other organisations in the interest of patients, local communities and the wider population - the NHS is an integrated system of organisations and services bound together by the principles and values now reflected in the Constitution. The NHS is committed to working jointly with local authorities and a wide range of other private, public and third sector organisations at national and local level to provide and deliver improvements in health and well-being
6. the NHS is committed to providing best value for taxpayers' money and the most cost-effective, fair and sustainable use of finite resources - public funds for healthcare will be devoted solely to the benefit of the people that the NHS serves
7. the NHS is accountable to the public, communities and patients that it serves - the NHS is a national service funded through national taxation, and it is the Government which sets the framework for the NHS and which is accountable to Parliament for its operation. However, most decisions in the NHS, especially those about the treatment of individuals and the detailed organisation of services, are rightly taken by the local NHS and by patients with their clinicians. The system of responsibility and accountability for taking decisions in the NHS should be transparent and clear to the public, patients and staff. The Government will ensure that there is always a clear and up-to-date statement of NHS accountability for this purpose
